County Exhibition

WILLIAM Gibson and Ben Elmore, well-known men from La Crosse, are among the perfect good boys touring the fair, several bottles of moonshine whiskey and a large quantity of "moon brew", together with sundry other equipment—including a loaded automatic pistol—the result of their alleged efforts to bring relief to the distressed patrons of the Houston county fair now on at Caledonia, Minn.

N. A. Prommes, white, who resides at 327 West Avenue south, this city, fell into the net of Sheriff W. H. Abbotts at Caledonia, Wednesday, when it is alleged, he sought to pass out to the fair visitors a beverage known as "Arend's phosphoric beer, iron and wine" which, the label stated, contains not over 20 per cent alcohol.

The stock of all three was confiscated by the sheriff who immediately notified U. S. Prohibition Agent Paul Keller at St. Paul, that there was work for the department at Caledonia.

Gibson, Elmore and Prommes were permitted to return to their homes here after Sheriff Abbotts had impressed upon them the fact that the arm of Uncle Sam is long and that he will get them when wanted.

To make certain that they might be more than a purely technical interest in the operations of U. S. and Minnesota prohibition laws, the Caledonia sheriff kept the stock of the three together with the valuable arm belonging to the dorkies.

"I had suspected," said Sheriff Abbotts, "that something stronger than the time-honored pink lemonade was going into the Caledonia fair grounds. I strolled around and was amazed by the unusual interest upon my actions. I arranged a plan and they fell for it. They had a dinner with them but he was only a kid and I didn't want him anyway."

Prommes was working a cracker-jack concession and I guess this "medicinal" proposition was a side issue. At any rate we have several cases of his product. You know we have some prohibition laws of our own in Minnesota and you can't sell medicine that you can get a "shine" without proper authority."

Sheriff Abbotts immediately placed the evidence in the hands of Acting State Attorney Duxbury.

The automatic pistol, which was taken from a small grip belonging to the negroes, was a heavy Colt automatic of 45 caliber. It was fully loaded.

AMUNDSEN SHIP
FAST IN ICE OFF
SIBERIAN COAST

NOME, Alaska, Sept. 17.—Captain Amundsen's expedition ship, the Maud, which left nearly two months ago, bound for the North Pole, is caught in the ice twenty miles off Cape Serge on the Siberian coast, according to information brought yesterday by Captain Heckla, whose fishing boat was ice-bound near the Maud.

Captain Heckla said Captain Amundsen's ship was still fast when his boat left. He said Captain Amundsen hoped to free the Maud soon and continue his journey.

COX LEADERS DEPEND ON "WET" VOTES TO WIN SAYS GARFIELD

Seek to Carry Large Cities
Through Controlling Worst
Elements Says ex-Secretary

MARION, O.—That the real strategy of the democratic campaign is to hold the 136 votes of the "solid south" and capture enough of the northern states through espousing the wet cause in their large cities and industrial centers, was declared in a statement here on Thursday by former secretary of the interior, James R. Garfield, after a conference with Senator Harding.

"The democratic plan is to concentrate efforts in carrying the big cities of these states, through controlling their worst elements," Garfield said.

The particular northern states in which Mr. Garfield asserted this plan of campaign is being waged by the democrats are New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Under this plan, Garfield said, the "most vicious elements of the north are arrayed with the solid south to bring the country under their control."

Mr. Garfield said in part: "If the country should go democratic this year, it would be absolutely in the grip of the old southern machine, plus the Tammanians of New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois."

Calls Cox Wet Candidate.

"Gov. Cox was nominated because he was willing to be nominated on this basis. Every wet influence recognized him as the wet candidate. It is unnecessary for him to declare himself on the subject. It was unnecessary for the party platform adopted at St. Francisco to declare itself. The free element of booze and boozism has him marked for its own. It recognizes him as its blood brother."

"Every southern state on which this plan must depend contains a number of large cities in which the democratic bosses believe they can control the vicious and corruptible element. They hope that their political machines plus the candidate's wetness will make it possible for them to sweep New York City, to make immense gains in the cities of upstate New York, and to carry New York's electoral vote."

"They are already at work in the lower wards of Chicago and in the industrial cities of Ohio, Indiana and New Jersey, to accomplish the same thing there. While Gov. Cox talks reform and progress to the best people, the Tammanians, the Murphys, the Taggarts, the Brennans, the Nugents and the rest of them will be delivering the goods."

BAKER CHALLENGES
HARDING CLAIM OF
LEAGUE IMPOTENCE

League Has Already Prevented
One War Declares Secretary in Iowa Address

WATERLOO, Iowa, Sept. 17.—There will be no peace in Europe until the burden of armament is lifted and the fear of war destroyed. Secretary Baker declared here today in a speech devoted to discussion of the treaty and league of nations covenant.

Challenging a statement by Senator Harding that the league was "so utterly impotent to prevent wars that it has not even been tried," Secretary Baker declared the league's operation "has already saved one war, though Senator Harding did not know it."

He recited the submission to the league council by Sweden and Finland of the Aland Islands dispute.

"Under the old order," Mr. Baker said, "Finland would instantly have occupied the Aland Islands with her military forces; Sweden would have mobilized her fleet, cut off Finnish ships if possible and prepared expeditionary forces for immediate attack. But the league in operation has already prevented one war."

SOVIET MINISTER
ANSWERS NOTE ON
COLBY TO ITALY

Distinction Drawn by U. S.
Hard to Understand Declares Tchitcherine

COLBY'S INFORMATION
INSUFFICIENT HE SAYS

Declares Friendliness to Russia is Conditional

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Distinctions drawn by Bainbridge Colby, United States secretary of state, between Armenia, Poland, Finland and other sections of Russia that have declared their independence, made in the course of Mr. Colby's note of August 10 to the Italian ambassador in Washington, are "impossible to understand and probably the result of insufficient information as to the real facts of national conditions in Eastern Europe," says George Tchitcherine, Russian bolshevik minister of foreign affairs.

M. Tchitcherine says Mr. Colby considers the demand for independence of Poland, Finland and Armenia legal, saying they were annexed to Russia by force and that their separation does not infringe upon Russia's territorial rights. He asserts the secretary holds that other "oppressed nationalities of Czarist Russia" were not annexed by force, and that the desire for independence of the Georgian, Azerbaijan, Lithuanian, Latvian, Estonian, and Ukrainian peoples, either in the form of complete independence or in federation with Russia are illegal.

"The exceptions allowed for by Mr. Colby," says the foreign minister, "underline the more emphatically his adherence to the territorial indivisibility of the former czarist empire, while at the same time his friendliness toward Russia is conditioned upon the fact that her government shall not be a soviet government. As a matter of fact, any other government at present is a bourgeois or capitalist government, and in view of the present economic unification of the world, that means a government connected with the interests of the world's dominating financial groups."

"Mr. Colby's friendliness toward Russia is, therefore, conditioned on the stipulation that her regime should be such as would enable domination of the North American financial groups in Europe."

M. Tchitcherine refers to an alleged forged document published in America, which he says, "contained alleged proof of the bolshevik being German agents."

"Calumnies against soviet Russia," he continues, "is one of the principal means of combating the movement of working masses in every country, including America."

"Seeing that in America and many other countries, the workers have not conquered power and have not even the conviction of the necessity of its conquest, the Russian soviet government considers it necessary to establish and unflinchingly maintain peaceful and friendly relations with the existing governments of those countries."

MILWAUKEE ROAD
TO ACCOMMODATE
FAIR VISITORS

In order to accommodate the fair visitors that are expected to flock into La Crosse next week, all trains on the Milwaukee road will carry extra equipment and cars for the convenience of those entering the city over that road.

A special train, leaving at 6:00 o'clock in the morning, will be run from Austin, Minn., to La Crosse on Wednesday, September 22, and passengers wishing to return the same evening will leave on the regular train at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Other visitors coming into the city will be accommodated on trains running on the regular schedule.

TROOPS CALLED FOR STRIKE SERVICE IN ALABAMA COALFIELD

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 17.—Six companies of the Alabama National Guard, called into service last night by Governor Kilby for duty in Walker and Jefferson counties, where bituminous coal miners have been on strike, were expected to reach the strike area today.

L. M. Adler, general manager of the Corona Coal Company, was shot from ambush and instantly killed yesterday. Deputy Sheriff Sullivan and Coker, who were with Adler were seriously wounded.

SMALL TAKES NOMINATION
FOR THE GOVERNORSHIP

Has Small Plurality Over Opponents for the Place

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 17.—With 5,078 out of 5,737 precincts in Illinois heard from, Len Small's lead over John G. Oglesby in the republican race for the gubernatorial nomination has been reduced to 5,429 votes.

An error of 6,463 in the city news bureau's figures for the Thirty-second Ward of Chicago reduced Small's plurality by that amount.

The precincts reporting give, for governor: Cook county, 244 precincts, Oglesby, 108,447; Small, 191,374.

Downstate, 2884 precincts, Oglesby, 220,582; Small, 143,084.

Grand total, 5,078 precincts, Oglesby, 329,029; Small, 334,458.

The vote in 5,078 out of 5,737 precincts in the state for United States senator gives: McKinley, 328,442; Smith, 320,873.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—Efforts were continued to complete the unofficial count of Wednesday's primary ballot in the closely contested republican gubernatorial and senatorial nominations and the democratic senatorial race.

With 691 out of 273 5737 precincts missing, of which 273 were in Chicago, Len Small of Kaneke, supported by Mayor Thompson, appeared to have been the victor over Lieutenant Governor John G. Oglesby.

Lowden candidate, by a plurality of about 10,000 in a total vote of nearly 700,000. Small polled his heaviest vote in Chicago, where he received the support of the Thompson republicans while Oglesby's strength came from the downstate Lowden republicans.

Congressman W. B. McKinley, Lowden candidate for senator, appeared to have defeated Frank L. Smith, supported by Mayor Thompson.

The official canvass next Tuesday probably will be necessary to determine the democratic senatorial winner, as Robert E. Burke and Peter Waller continued to run neck and neck.

BADGER DEMOCRATIC TICKET SAFELY ON THE STATE BALLOT

State Ticket Nominated With Three Thousand Votes to Spare

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 17.—Compilations made at the office of the secretary of state on Friday show that the democratic state ticket is safely on the state ballot. The returns show, however, that in practically fifty per cent of the counties of the state no democratic county ticket has been nominated.

It requires about 11,000 votes to put the democratic ticket on the state ballot. With returns missing from ten counties including Milwaukee and Dane, where an aggregate of about 5,000 democratic votes were cast, the reports at the secretary's office at noon today showed that 14,711 votes had been cast for the democratic state ticket.

In sixty-one counties of the state not including Milwaukee and Dane, the socialists cast a total vote of 8,975 for their state ticket. Colman, the socialist candidate for governor, received 8,995 votes and Kleist, the socialist candidate for lieutenant governor, received 8,630 votes. Socialist leaders declare that the socialist vote in the state primary will be larger than the democratic vote in the state at the primary.

WARNING OF EXPLOSION
RECEIVED BY TWO PERSONS

Man in Toronto Warned Friends to Keep Away from Wall Street

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The financial center of America's big cities from coast to coast are armed camps today, with police and private sentries posted to guard against repetition of the mysterious explosion that rocked Wall street yesterday.

From Washington, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Detroit, Baltimore, as far south as Gulf of Mexico and west to the Golden Gate, authorities announced heavy patrols of plainclothes men and police reserves in their big business districts, and federal agents worked with state and city officials to run down reports of widespread extremist plots.

Troops were held in readiness on Governor's Island today and detachments of the Twenty-second Infantry were in barracks subject to instant call.

Guard Public Buildings

All public buildings and the homes of wealthy and prominent men here are under special watch, and every available man is held in reserve or actively working in federal, state and city investigation agencies.

Between eight and nine o'clock this morning police, in the financial district were relaxed for admission of the thousands of office workers.

During the same period emergency patrols were doubled and every doorway and alley was under close inspection. Down-town subway stations were kept cleared by a large force of police.

Clean up Debris.

During the early hours public and private agencies cleaned up Wall St., sweeping up tons of debris and washing down blood spattered sidewalks and buildings. Repairmen started work remedying damage to twisted iron office structures in the Morgan building, and glaziers by scores began the long task of restoring window-panes in the entire financial hub.

Two reported warnings that the explosion was to occur figured in the investigation today.

Warnings Received

One was a letter, received by Lient. Armand of the French high commission, who predicted, it was said, such an occurrence and warned the commission to close office and send the employees home yesterday.

The other was a letter received two days ago by George Ketchledge, an employee of a brokerage house, from Edward Fischer in Toronto, Canada, who warned against remaining in Wall St. "after 3 o'clock on the fifteenth," and ended his missive with "Good Luck."

Property Damage Great

Estimates of the property damage run as high as $2,500,000.

The financial district was crowded with sightseers today surveying the scene of yesterday's explosion. Police lines were established two blocks north, east, south and west.

The stock market opened at 10 o'clock with no outward signs of excitement and few traces of yesterday's disaster, aside from windows covered with canvas in place of the huge glass panes.

Business as Usual

Most active members of the exchange were present and business proceeded in normal fashion. At the United States sub-treasury and assay office, the day's routine was taken up without a hitch, although extra guards were on duty.

The banking-house of J. P. Morgan and Company was heavily guarded. All windows on the main floor which were blown in were covered with canvas.

Several of the Morgan partners were on hand, but had nothing to add to their brief statements of yesterday. The majority of the clerical force appeared for work.

Explosion Terrific

Many of those injured in the explosion will die. Eight who were taken to the Broad street hospital for treatment died within three hours after the explosion. Five of the early victims were women. The terrific force of the explosion was shown by the nature of the wounds inflicted on the dead and injured. The bodies were shockingly mangled.

Bodies on Window Sills

Pieces of bodies were found on window sills and in crevices of buildings.

Explosion Declared to Have Occurred in Horse-Drawn Wagon
in Front of Treasury

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Reports from William J. Flynn, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, received here today, point conclusively to the fact that the explosion in New York was caused by an anarchist bomb, it was announced today at the justice department.

Reports from Mr. Flynn over the telephone, officials of the department stated, clearly show that radical activities were responsible for the outrage. Details of Mr. Flynn's report, however, were not made public.

After checking up today reports of lost securities officials of the stock exchange said several packages valued between $300,000 and $400,000 are missing. A large proportion of these securities, they said, are non-negotiable.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—William J. Flynn, chief of the bureau of investigation, department of justice, declared this afternoon he was positive that a bomb had caused the explosion in Wall street yesterday, which took a toll of thirty-six lives, injured about 200 persons, and caused property damage running into the millions.

Chief Flynn made his announcement shortly after Fire Commissioner Brennan had reported to Mayor Hylan his belief that a bomb was responsible for the disaster and that the police had begun to swing to the bomb theory as opposed to that of a collision between a powder wagon and an automobile.

"There is absolutely no doubt that it was a bomb," said Chief Flynn. "An important development in the last two hours has convinced us of this. The bomb was apparently placed by a person who was within four blocks of Wall and Broad streets, when the explosion occurred."

Search For Driver

Certain at last of the cause of the explosion, federal agents and city police increased their search for the driver of a wagon drawn by one horse which was blown to pieces. No trace of him has yet been found.

The theory of the investigators is that a time bomb was placed on the wagon and that the driver hurried from the scene just after arranging for the explosion to occur at noon.

Six expert chemists attached to the bureau of mines of the department of the interior arrived at police headquarters this afternoon from Washington and assisted in reconstructing metal fragments believed to have been part of a bomb.

Fischer in Custody

Edward P. Fischer, a former employee of the French high commission in New York, who was detained by the police in Hamilton, Ont., today after he is alleged to have sent two postcards to friends here from Toronto warning them not to be in Wall street at three o'clock Wednesday the 15th, will be brought to New York to testify before the September grand jury. This body today was ordered to inquire into the disaster.

Shortly before word of Fischer's detention was received here, a representative of the district attorney's office left for Toronto with a subpoena for him.

Metal Thrown Quarter Mile

George Lamb, division superintendent of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, today discovered one man had been struck while on John street fully a quarter of a mile from the scene of the explosion, by a window, "sash" weight. The metal, nearly two inches in length, was hot when it fell.

Six expert wagon-makers expressed the opinion that the "powder wagon" (Continued on page six)

GOVERNOR ALLEN'S INDUSTRIAL COURT RIDING ROUGH ROAD

Kansas Anti-Strike Law Judges in Sharp Tilt and Charges Fly Thick and Fast

BY MABEL ARBOTT, N. E. A. Staff Correspondent, TOPEKA, Kas.—"The Kansas Industrial Court is on the rocks, and it wouldn't be a nickel on whether it is going to get off or go to pieces."

This is the way a man in position to know, puts the present situation of the court that was intrusted with the administration of Kansas' famous experiment in preventing strikes by law. And several things that have happened lately indicate that it is at least very close to a couple of rocks on which many men and measures have been wrecked.

One is Internal Dissension. The other is the determination of politicians to make the law and the court partisan issues.

The court's internal difficulties have been predicted for some time by those who have studied its personnel. Governor Allen could hardly have got together three more different temperaments if he had tried.

Presiding Judge W. L. Higgins is a lawyer from William Allen White's small and famous town of Emporia. His mind is slow-moving, conscientious, and thoroughly legal in type.

Eye on Governorship. Judge Clyde M. Reed is an editor. His paper is in a small town, too. Parsons, Kas. Reed was secretary to Governor Allen and later a member of the public utilities commission. Political gossip credits him with ambitions for the governorship.

Judge George H. Wark is a lawyer and a former member of the Kansas legislature. While Higgins and Wark have generally been on one side and Reed on the other in the clashes which have come to public knowledge, Wark is said by those who know the three men, to be the gyroscope without which the boat would not have stayed right-side-up on one or two occasions.

These men are over-worked. Rail strikes, coal strikes, car shortages, constantly rising rates for carfare, gas, telephones, and other necessities are only a few of the problems they are struggling with. Nobody has ever been able to solve any of them, but the Kansas Industrial Court has to try to solve all of them.

Rumblings of disagreement have been heard. Recently the Kansas City (Kas.) telephone company asked to be allowed to raise its rates. After the investigation, the Industrial Court gave permission. But the divergence in view came to the surface in a sharply dissenting opinion filed by Judge Reed.

The next thing was a report that an expense account of Judge Reed's had been held up; and the next was

PONZI'S GIRL MANAGER TESTIFIES

BOSTON.—Miss Lucy Melli, confidential secretary and office manager to Charles Ponzi, something-for-nothing money "wizard," is shown in the witness' dock at the investigation which federal officials are making into Ponzi's frenzied financial operations.

An order signed by Higgins and Wark that "no expenses be incurred by any member of the court or by any officer of employee, for telegraph, telephone or traveling expenses, except upon the order of the presiding judge."

Break is Plain. The split was plain, and the result was natural.

Judge Reed's friends assert that he is standing for the people against a couple of corporation-minded lawyers, and is being hampered and harassed in consequence. Friends of the other judges charge that Reed is keeping his eye on the governorship and playing for popularity in his decisions instead of dispensing strict justice; and that the order was the result of discovery that personal and political messages were getting onto the court's telephone and telegraph bills.

Why Wait? The clock struck nine. I looked at Kate.

"It doesn't take any sense to be a candidate," impudently interjected J. Fuller Gloom.

Removing Ugly Hairs—Entirely New Method (Actually Removes the Root)

The question is often asked whether a really permanently efficacious hair-remover exists, and the answer has heretofore been very unsatisfactory. Fortunately, there's a new and remarkable process that really removes every hair entire, root and all! It is different from and far better than electrolysis, depilatories, the razor, or any other method. If you'd like to try it, just get a stick of phenacine from your druggist, follow the simple instructions—and with your own eyes see the hair roots come out! Roots are removed quickly, easily, leaving the skin perfectly smooth and hair-free. Phenacine is non-irritating, odorless, and so harmless you could eat it!

HE SHOULD START. A JEWELRY STORE. CRICH, England.—Edward Emaus has just celebrated his second silver wedding. His first marriage was in 1867 and his second in 1895.

Destroyed the Illusion. Into the restaurant she came with the air of a princess; a truly regal figure, clad in brown from top to toe and looking as if she had just visited a Parisian modiste and a beauty parlor—a perfectly groomed, handsome woman. There was an air of refinement about her. She looked expensively turned out in the simple, deceptive way.

She seated herself at a table and there were little exclamations of admiration from other diners near. A waitress approached; every one hushed to listen to the beautiful creature speak. In a high-pitched, East side voice she ordered: "Bring me a onion omelette." It was brought, and she played it glibly speaking with her knife. —New York Evening Post.

Non-Sensational. One secret that is not common gossip is the secret of success.

DOCTORS COULDN'T, BUT SHE MADE HER WELL. SALINAS, California.—Physicians couldn't help Mrs. E. H. Liddle's prize hen when Biddy had a bone stuck in her throat. Mrs. Liddle grabbed her and butcher knife, slit hen's neck, traded knife for hair pin, hooked hair pin to bone, pulled hair pin, removed bone. Biddy flapped a joyous wing and now she's laying eggs again.

Will German-American Vote Be Organized For Harding?

The attempt of the German-American Citizens' League to organize German-American voters to prevent the election of Governor Cox to the Presidency is arousing lively interest in both camps. "The hyphen, that detestable phenomenon of American society, is again lifting its hydra-headed hideousness and discharging its venom," exclaims the Louisville Courier-Journal (Dem.) "There is evidence of a strong and highly organized pro-German movement in favor of the election of Senator Harding," declares the Indianapolis News (Ind.) Interpreting the resolutions passed by the German-American Citizens' League, George Sylvester Viereck, editor of The American Monthly, in the columns of his magazine declares that "The Democratic candidate is impossible. He is the candidate of Woodrow Wilson and the League of Nations. The Republican candidate is distinctly the lesser of two evils. His speech of acceptance is not without merit."

On the other hand, Senator Harding, in a statement which the Democratic New York Times concedes to be "proper enough so far as it goes," warns these German-American supporters that they must not think of him as favoring any class or race among our citizens. Among other German-American papers that disavow a German-American vote is the St. Louis Westliche Post, which states that this paper "does not recognize any hyphen vote," and predicts that Americans of German descent will vote as any other American, "every one according to his own personal convictions as to which one of the two candidates stands higher for pure, unadulterated Americans."

MADDOCK

Bathroom fixtures that give a lifetime of service

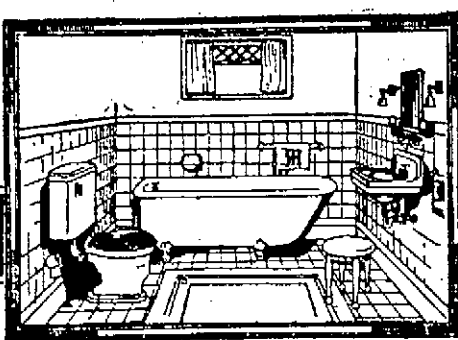

Durability is one of the most essential requirements of high grade plumbing equipment. The fixtures must withstand years of hard usage and give the utmost in service with a minimum of wear.

Constructed entirely of pure white, almost unbreakable vitreous china, Thomas Maddock fixtures give years of service without chipping, cracking or crazing. We sell them because they seldom, if ever, require repairs. Pure white, easy-to-clean bathtubs that never stain or discolor; one piece, vitreous china lavatories with no metal work above the slabs; silent acting, non-soiling closets; towel bars, tumbler holders and other bathroom accessories also of vitreous china—

These are the fixtures that are now ready for your inspection in our display of plumbing equipment.

Come in today and let us show you how such equipment will save labor in housework; how it will add to the comforts of your home and at the same time safeguard the health of your family.

THE RUMMAGE SALE

Did you ever attend one? Here on a table is old Brown's silk hat that he wore to church many years and now that he's gone it has been sent by his family to the rummage sale to be disposed of for the benefit of the church.

And there on the counter is an old china pug dog that used to guard the mantel piece in somebody's house. And on a rack hangs the Prince Albert coat that some fellow wore when he was married and which his wife kept as a treasured thing through the years; now she has given it away because the sentiment that attached to it is dead and has fluttered away like last year's leaf.

They are handy institutions, these rummage sales, enabling one, as they do, to give away for good purposes what he no longer needs, or wants or cares for. He holds on to such things a long time and then one day he gets tired seeing them around and away they go to the rummage sale, the second-hand store and the rag shop.

But the rummage of minds and characters most people hold on to and cherish forever. To their dying days they keep old and wornout prejudices and fight hard for them.

They hold and feed cankered hates and envies as things of great value, worth treasuring in their hearts.

They keep fast to habits, knowing they are bad, but lacking the will or the courage to throw them off.

They cast off only good resolutions and intentions because they interfere too much with comfort.

The next time you gather together your old clothes for the rummage sale and you have packed it all in one bundle, suppose you say to yourself: "Let's see, what have I left out? What else is there that I ought to get rid of? What passions, prejudices and habits are littering up my mind and character?"

You will not be able to get rid of this rummage as easily as you can dispose of your old clothes, but once having taken stock of it you will know yourself better. The first step to self-improvement is to become acquainted with your defects.

"I know everything except myself," said the celebrated vagabond, Villon.

SENDING THE PILOT ALOFT

THE presidency of France is a job something like that of the king of England. It is a splendid figure-head for the ship of state, gilded and gaudy, but as far as effect upon the policies of the republic goes as effectively to be filled by a wax-work as by a genius. Hence the report that Paul Deschanel, the present incumbent, is ill and has resigned, and that his place may be taken by Premier Millerand is one of some importance. It is important because Millerand's "elevation" to the presidency would put a new premier in his place and would probably remove him from the sphere of active politics. Even if the new man's political complexion were that of his predecessor, the chances are that he would evolve policies in some points at variance with the present purposes and attitudes of the French government, and possibly he might change them beyond recognition.

Millerand has been a powerful figure in European politics since he succeeded Clemenceau. He has struck out on a new and, liberal opinion is inclined to think, highly dangerous adventure, the motif of which is the crushing of Germany and elevation of France to position of dictator in all of Europe. He has virtually brokered the entente with Britain and Italy and placed France in irreconcilable conflict with Russia. At present the only support which French policy has in Europe comes from new and comparatively petty states which the peace conference, on French inspiration largely, hewed out of Germany, Austria and Russia. It is not a policy that offers reassuring prospects of continued peace and prosperity. It savors of the imperialism which breeds wars.

The possibility that Millerand's hand may be removed from the tiller after setting such a course is one of considerable importance. A new man might moderate it, perhaps even discard it altogether. Probably M. Millerand suspects the likelihood that this will happen. That would explain the vehemence with which he refuses the suggestion that he stand for the presidency.

WALL STREET

ONE hesitates to conclude on anything less than positive evidence that the disastrous explosion in Wall Street was the deliberate work of malicious conspirators. But the possibility must be looked squarely in the face, however one may hope that sifting of the facts may finally establish it as a horrible accident. Wall Street is the hub and center of capitalism of the world, since the war. To endeavor to terrorize its habits and offer an object lesson of sinister power to the rest of society would be just the sort of motive which would appeal to the partially addled brains of those who are most frequently responsible for such outrages.

The Wall Street horror, if intended, seems to have been of a peculiarly fiendish and heartless nature. Its perpetration in the midst of the financial district's business day reveals that its object was as much slaughter as demonstration of power, provided it were no accident. If there were deliberate intention of the explosion, the intention was imbued with a reckless cruelty beyond anything that the civil history of the United States can parallel. In the nature of things a plotter must have known that his victims would be by a great majority men and women clerks and underlings, no more responsible than he himself for the abuses of capitalism which inflame terrorist conspiracies. One notable financial figure was slightly cut by flying glass, which is about the average that even ordinary intelligence would have foreseen. It is apparent that nothing less than utterly bestial brutality, to which human suffering and misery is a matter of perfect indifference, could have hatched the plot, if plot there was.

If there are such cold-blooded scoundrels as the plot theory supposes at work in the United States they must be hunted down like the animals they are, not in the interests of capitalism or of the present organization of society but in the simple defense of humanity. Their activities will do more to discredit the social theories they represent than any amount of logic or argument, but such slaughters as that in New York are too heavy a price for the defeat, if it must be paid in innocent blood and life.

THE ROMANCE OF A SURVEY

BY FREDERICK HART

On Friday the familiar "back pasture" was much as usual: the cows grazed contentedly, the little brook talked to itself as it had done for the past thousand years, the scattered trees were the same air of permanency as the surrounding hills. On Friday, on Saturday the scene had changed radically. The cows fled in terror, the brook babbled angrily, the trees seemed indignant. The cause of all this disturbance was the appearance of a number of young men in flannel shirts and high laced shoes, some of whom performed strange feats with tripods and long red-and-white poles and interminable steel tapes, shouting and waving their arms in a way to frighten any self-respecting cow into bovine hysterics, while others drove stakes in the ground. It was all very strange, thought the cows and the brook and the trees; no one had ever acted that way in the back pasture before. These sentiments were echoed by pretty Mary Langhorn when she made her morning trip to the back pasture. But Mary shared none of the cow's terror. She walked straight to the young man who seemed to be in charge of things and demanded of him who he was, what he wanted there, where he came from, what he was doing and why he was doing it, all in a breath. The young man took off his hat—it was a hot morning, and he was working hard—and bowed to her with a bland, superior, knowing smile. He had a rather nice brow, thought Mary; in fact, he was rather nice to look at, in his rough clothes with the untucked sleeves showing his muscular forearms and his shirt open at the throat, revealing the white skin below where the sun had not tanned it. But she waited for her reply without giving any sign of this admiration. The young man seemed apologetic, and was quite nice about it.

"Well, you see, Miss—"

"Mary Langhorn's my name, and this is my father's, Jonas Langhorn's farm."

"Miss Langhorn, we're surveyor for a railroad line that's to run through here. Your father was to see our attorneys this morning. We're running the preliminary now."

Mary hadn't the slightest idea what he meant by "running a preliminary," but he really was nice, even if he was on her father's land; and then, the mention of attorneys was reassuring and business-like. So she treated the young man to a smile, which he seemed to appreciate to the full, and returned to the house where she found her father in a state of excitement.

"What do you think, Mary—girl?" he began. Her mother, standing behind him, echoed "What do you think?"

"They're going to run a line of railroad right through the back pasture—I was talking to their lawyer just this minute—they're going to pay $500 an acre for the right of way! Why, it comes to more'n $5,000! It's a big thing for us, Mary—It means school an' college for you, for one thing. Ain't ye glad?"

"Oh, Dad!" The dream of Mary's life was to be realized at last, and she could hardly find words to express her happiness. Then her mother spoke.

"That young engineer—the chief of the gang—Andrews—is his name while they put the line through. Near's I can find out, he has to stay nearby to 'tend to some 'gravel' or somethin' like that—an' the lawyer asked could I put him up an' around for awhile. Did you see him when you was down to the back pasture this mornin'?"

"Yes—I saw him. He—looked rather nice."

"Well," Jonas Langhorn's word was short. "I'm glad you liked his looks. He'll come in for dinner."

At dinner he appeared and the Langhorn family "took to" him at once. He was quiet, but had a fund of humor that kept them laughing when he chose to exercise it. He was handsome, too, thought Mrs. Langhorn as she looked at the bronzed face that Mary had admired in the forenoon. And he seemed to like the farm cooking, which was the surest way to Mrs. Langhorn's heart. But Mary was silent and subdued before him; in fact, through the months that followed—the waiting for material and the endless surveying and re-surveying—she grew more and more quiet. Her father saw fit to rally her on the subject, but she would make no direct reply.

"Wonder if the child's feelin' well?" inquired his wife of him one evening in an anxious tone. But he reassured her.

"She's a little peaked, I'll admit," he said. "But you just wait till fall, when she goes to school. I'll make a new girl of her. You just wait." So Mrs. Langhorn dutifully waited.

Mary was to leave for school on the 15th of September. The night before her departure the young engineer announced that the first shipment of material would arrive the next day, and that work on the digging and grading would begin at once. His news cheered the good people on the farm, for they were anxious to see the work begun; but Mary received it in silence. After the evening meal she slipped away for a moment and did not return at once.

The engineer thought he would take a last look at his stakes, to see that no mischievous small boys had extracted any of them. He went down to the back pasture in the twilight. His line of stakes stretched clean and true across the green, and he was about to leave when he heard something that caused him to check himself. It was the sound of some one laughing as though her heart would break. He looked about and saw Mary, a huddled white heap on the grass, crying her heart out. In surprise he went up to her.

"What's the matter?" he asked.

"Oh, please go away and let me alone!" sobbed Mary. But he was

GET TOGETHER SPIRIT IS WHAT THIS SCHOOL NEEDS, SAYS BILLINGS

(Fourth Day of Story)
"Tom I tell you, we've got to do something."

"This scrap that started with that first football game is going to be a real feud before long. Our football season will be a failure. It is bad enough to have you and Jeffries out of the lineup, but it is even worse when all the other fellows lose their pep. First thing we know, all we will have left around here will be a bunch of sour mollycoddies wearing 'We' suits."

"Well, Art, what are you going to do about it? You are not to blame. You didn't get into the scrap. You played a good heady game Saturday, even if you didn't have much of a team behind you."

"That's not the point, Tom. The trouble with this whole high school is that we're not a high school at all. We're just a bunch of different little groups and cliques. The girls are as bad as the boys. There isn't the school spirit that there should be. We will never have it either, if we don't get together and talk things over as a body. I think we ought to have a real high school council. We could handle most of our own troubles, better than Old Henry. If we had a council with the whole school behind it, most of these troubles would never come up in the first place."

"I guess you're right, Art," said Tom and walked away. Whether Tom would support the idea or not, Art couldn't tell.

Art tried the same thing on George Jeffries, but got little more than a few growls about "raw deals" and a few more surly grunts. He wasn't at all sure of himself when he finally telephoned Old Henry and asked if he could talk things over with him.

"Yes, Billings, I certainly believe you are correct," assured Old Henry Weatherly. "I wish you would come into my office tomorrow. We should get to the bottom of this disgraceful affair. I can't understand it; I can't understand it."

Art and Old Henry had a long talk, and Old Henry called a meeting of all the pupils of the school. (More Tomorrow)

LEAGUE CONTRARY TO CONSTITUTION ASSERTS HARDING

Constitution or the Covenant Must be Choice of the Nation Says Candidate

ATTACKS POLICY OF U. S. TOWARD LATIN AMERICA

Carrying on Unconstitutional War in Hayti and San Domingo

MARION, O., Sept. 17.—Pronouncing the league of nations covenant irreconcilable with the American constitution, Senator Harding declared in a Constitution Day address here that the time had come for the United States to decide whether it would preserve or abandon the charter under which it achieved nationality.

"The constitution or the covenant, that is the paramount issue," he said. "The two are irreconcilable. We cannot be governed from both Geneva and Washington. We cannot follow our present chief magistrate without forsaking the father of our country."

The republican nominee assailed the administration's policy toward the smaller nations of the western hemisphere, asserting that the executive had usurped congressional powers to carry on an unconstitutional war with Hayti and San Domingo. He declared the recent utterances of Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic nominee for vice president, had recalled officially the American government's "rape" of the two little republics.

The speech was delivered from the front porch to delegations from several Ohio counties.

Never Failed the World

"The constitution has never failed America," he said, "and despite heedless assertions to the contrary, America has never failed the world."

"We must strictly maintain and scrupulously observe the mandates of the constitution of the United States. We are not doing so now. We are at war, not alone technically with Germany, but actually with the little, helpless republics of our own hemisphere. The wars upon our neighbors to the south were made and are still being waged, through the usurpation by the executive of powers not only never bestowed upon him, but scrupulously withheld by the constitution."

"Practically all we know is that thousands of native Haytians have been killed by American marines, and that many of our own gallant men have sacrificed their lives at the behest of the executive department in order to establish laws drafted by an assistant secretary of the navy, to secure a vote in the league and to continue at the point of the bayonet a military domination which at this moment requires the presence of no less than 2,000 of our armed men on that foreign soil."

League Menace to U. S.

"Vastly more important and far more menacing to our own popular institutions than even this distressing example is the proposal to transfer by indirectness, the chief prerogative of one department of the government to another. The constitution vests in congress exclusively the power to declare war, but it also declares that a duly executed treaty 'shall be the supreme law of the land.'"

"Under Article X of the covenant, it would be the appointee and representative of the president, not of congress nor of the people, who would either acquiesce in or reject a proposition in the council of the league to uphold by force of arms the cause of one power against another."

SAME OLD BUNCH

"Hello, old man!" exclaimed the top-hatted traveler as he clutched the arm of the man in the shabby tweed suit.

"Why, it's Tompkins!" replied the tweed suit man. And they shook hands.

"And how are things?" went on the man in the top-hat affectionately, as they walked on together. "I haven't seen you for months! Who are you working for now?"

The man in the tweed suit sized loudly.

"Same old lot," he said sadly. "a wife, and six kids."—Pittsburgh Sun.

AMERICA SHUT OUT OF MANY BIG OIL FIELDS

England, France and the Netherlands Control Outside Reserve

BY HARRY E. HUNT, N. E. A. Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—With the peak of probable production reached in the United States, and with consumption not only already well exceeding this maximum production but increasing by leaps and bounds, Uncle Sam is faced in face with the necessity of quickly arranging reasonably secure supplies from outside source of his future prosperity and ability to compete equally with the rest of the world is to escape serious menace.

In spite of the fact that the rest of the world contains seven or eight times as much oil as remains in the United States, but only uses about one-fourth as much as is consumed in this country, we find the doors of the big outside fields practically closed against us.

Mexico Oil Rich

Mexico holds perhaps the richest deposits of oil in the western hemisphere outside the United States.

Somewhat more than half of this Mexican oil is now coming to the United States. Dutch and British capital, however, under the Royal Dutch-Shell interests, is rapidly increasing its control of Mexican oil properties.

At least the Mexican supply cannot be regarded by America as a safely dependable source.

Outside of Mexico, we find the world's oil fields of the first magnitude lie in upper Persia, Mesopotamia, Trans-Caspian, Siberian and the lower Tidal region. Fields of second magnitude, largely undeveloped, lie in Galicia, Rumania, India, Burma, the Dutch East Indies, China, Formosa and Japan, and, in the western hemisphere, in Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Argentina and Canada.

U. S. Shut Out

Surely American initiative and capital ought to be able to control enough oil from these sources to keep Uncle Sam well supplied. An investigation by government authorities, however, discloses the following:

Except in Canada, nationals of the United States are practically excluded from acquiring oil territories, colonies and dependencies or in lands within the spheres of influence of Great Britain, France, Japan, and the Netherlands.

No alien may even prospect for oil in Burmah, India, Persia—except those employed by the Anglo-Persian Co., which is controlled by the British government.

Governmental policies excluding other nationals from control of oil supplies are in force in Algeria, Australia, Barbadoes, British East Africa, British Guiana, France, French West Indies, Guatemala, Japan, Formosa, Madagascar, New Guinea, Uganda, South Africa and Venezuela.

Ownership of oil in the ground rests in the governments of Bolivia, Costa Rica, France, Slovakia, South Africa, Uganda, the United Kingdom, and Venezuela, and, in part, in Argentina, Australia, British Guiana, Canada, Colombia, Ecuador, India and Trinidad. Movements further to vest oil rights in the state are in progress in Colombia, Mexico, Rumania, Russia, and the Dominican Republic. Foreign lands even have invaded our own preserves, British and Dutch holdings in our California and Mid-Continent fields including much of our richest oil lands.

Today, facing an imperative need for safeguarding future supplies, we find that we are distinctly or in effect shut out of the regions containing one-half of the oil in sight in the rest of the world, and unless an open-door policy is maintained in the mandatory countries under the League of Nations, the total oil concessions held by Great Britain and the Netherlands will exceed three-fourths of the world's oil reserves outside the United States.

IMPERIALISM TO BE DEATH OF THE RUSSIAN SOVIETS

Economic Conditions Get Worse
as Result of Crop
Failure

LONDON—Just as imperialism killed czarism so will imperialism be the death of Russian sovietism, is the prediction made to The Associated Press correspondent by M. Pip, the Estonian Foreign Minister in London, in analyzing the consequences of the bolshevik offensive in Poland.

While Foreign Minister, last year M. Pip pitted his wits against the bolsheviks at Dorpat and he is regarded as one of the best authorities in Europe on Russian political and economic conditions.

In common with representatives of other Russian border states, M. Pip is watching with profound concern the developments in Poland. "The bolsheviks are fighting Poland with the Allies' ammunition which they captured from Denikine and Kolchak," he said. "This is now almost exhausted and Russia cannot renew it."

Discussing the possibility of an attack by the bolsheviks on Estonia, M. Pip said:

"We are ready for them. The Estonian frontier is now closed by our troops except the gates through which we are trading with Russia. The soviet government must know it it succeeds in getting a foothold in Estonia the Allies would instantly cut off Russia from the vital need of supplies it is now receiving through us. We might perish but soviet Russia would go down with us."

M. Pip asserted that Russia's economic condition was rapidly getting worse because this season's crop was a failure. He said it was not unlikely that the cities will soon be wholly depopulated.

"The Soviet government dare not reduce its enormous army," he concluded. "Unemployment is now a critical problem throughout the whole of Russia and if the men who, as soldiers are comparatively well cared for, were thrown on their own resources a revolution would result. The chief terror which the Soviet rulers have to face is peace and demobilization."

PEN DAYS WERE HER HAPPY DAYS, SHE SAYS

MARIETTA, Ohio.—The days her husband spent in the state penitentiary were the happiest of her life, declares Mrs. Bita Crowe, who has filed petition for divorce from Pat Crowe, who served 12 months in prison. Mrs. Crowe in her petition says her husband made life miserable for her upon his release from prison, showing everything from fists to chin at her.

NOW CELLULOID DISKS AND FLUTED RIBBON ADORN AUTUMN FROCKS

Fluted or quilled ribbon designs, startling floral patterns in chain stitching, and embroidery made of cellulosid disks instead of beads, distinguish newest gowns.

BY CORA MOORE

(New York's Fashion Authority)

NEW YORK.—The new fall frocks are very "new." Almost every one involves some feature that we've never heard of before, especially in the way of trimming.

Take these three costumes, for example. Who before ever thought of embroidering a simply cut black satin with quilled green ribbon in all-over effect, as the one at the left in which a pretty "Clarence" girl is posed? Or who ever heard of embroidering with little disks of cellulosid? A "Honey Girl" maiden posed in the gown of daisy-like thus embellished, at the right as you may see, and isn't it effective? Then there is the gown in which department to be their busiest recruiter. In seven months he walked 1,400 miles through mountains seeking army recruits. He signed up

June Dividge poses. The gown itself is of one of the new crepe-like satins and the great slashy figures you see, and, perhaps, though were printed on, were embroidered in white chain-stitching.

Each of the models shows the same straight lines of summer frocks which will continue in vogue, though not exclusively.

967 applicants and in doing so wore out 16 pairs of shoes. Before the war he was a law student at University of Chicago.

COST OF TRAVEL FOR AMERICANS HIGH IN BALKANS

Difficult for Foreigners to Get Home Because of Rigid Rules

BUDAPEST.—The cost of travel for Americans in Central Europe and Balkan countries is reaching extortionate proportions through the tendency to charge Americans the same price for passport visas as that of the American government for foreigners, which recently was increased from $1 to $10. If this tendency is continued, an American in the course of a few day's journey passing several frontiers, may have to pay $30 to $50 in visas.

For travellers of all nationalities, however, the charge has been rapidly increasing during the past six months. The Germans began the high charges, demanding $5. Then Austria followed suit with the same charge and Hungary and other countries have been obliged to make like charges. Because of the huge revenue so obtainable, passports are severely examined, more so than in war time.

Under pretext of obstructing bolshevik travel, guards at frontiers ruthlessly turn back travellers without proper visas.

Because of this unneighborly practice, it is difficult for citizens of a foreign country to pass homeward. Budapest is now full of thousands of people who, under the new frontiers fixed by the Peace Conference, are subjects of Roumania or Jugoslavia, but can not get passport visas home to their property. In one instance, Americans used their good offices to get visas for two widows, formerly Hungarians but whose farms are now in Serbia. They had waited eight months to get permission to travel 150 miles.

The office of American High Commissioner Grant Smith at Budapest is daily besieged by hundreds of people who wish to go to America or to secure help to reach their homes in Czechoslovakia, or other countries.

The vegetation of Madagascar is especially luxuriant in England the term "civil law" means "Roman law."

See Lalley Light Make a Non-Stop Run at the Fair

The most interesting feature of the fair this year will be the continuous non-stop run of Lalley Light. This means that a plant taken from our regular stock will be started at the opening of the fair and run without stopping every day and every night during that time.

It means that right out in the open, under the most adverse conditions and the watchful eye of every one, this Lalley will not only run continuously during the fair, but at the same time supply ample power to operate a number of home electric appliances such as the milking machine, cream separator, churn, pump, sewing machine, washing machine, grinder, iron, fan or any other electrically driven domestic appliance.

Of course, you will see Lalley Light before you buy. Learn how the Lalley will pay for itself in the many time and labor savings ways in which it can be used. Get all the facts. It does not obligate you in any way.

PROPOSAL FOR A HUGE JAP NAVY STARTS A DEBATE

Admiral Kato Says Far East Need Not Fear U. S.—that We Love Peace

PRIME MINISTER DECLARES JAPAN IS NOT AGGRESSIVE

Government Recognizes Need of National Defense Declares Hara

TOKIO.—There was a debate in the Japanese diet recently between Prime Minister Hara and a representative over the question whether it was necessary for Japan immediately to expend a large sum in an attempt to keep abreast of the United States in the building of warships. The discussion was briefly reported by cable at that time but the official report of the speech delivered by Ichizo Hattori, who criticized the action of the Japanese government in asking for a national defense program, and the reply of Prime Minister Hara, who declared that Japan will not be credited with any ambitious designs.

"As you are aware, Japan is now among the five great powers of the world and it is important for her to be provided with armaments to commensurate with her position in world politics. I feel sure that the present national defense program will excite no misunderstandings abroad and that Japan will not be credited with any ambitious designs."

The number of commercial cars exported during the 12 months ended June 30 was 24,356, valued at $41,577,684 as compared with 12,921 valued at $32,233,485 in 1919. Passenger car shipments showed an even greater increase, the total being 115,519 valued at $125,384,025 as compared with 41,291 valued at $43,852,705 the year before.

The United Kingdom led in the imports of both commercial and passenger cars, taking 4,503 of the former and 17,528 of the latter. Canada was second in the matter of both types of cars taking 2,443 commercial and 9,993 passenger vehicles. Cuba imported 4,803 passenger cars and 1,526 commercial automobiles. Brazil was next behind Canada in imports of passenger cars to the total of 6,100. British India imported 8,144 passenger cars and British South Africa 5,752. Australia took 5,898, Argentina 3,313 and New Zealand 3,238 passenger cars.

The Scandinavian countries also were heavy purchasers of passenger automobiles; Norway taking 3,035 and Sweden 4,055. Spain purchased 2,714, Denmark 2,374, China 1,050, Uruguay 2,754, Peru 1,051, Mexico 2,749, Philippine Islands 2,444, and Chile 619. France imported only 539 passenger vehicles, but it took 1,392 commercial cars. Japan also purchased 1,036 commercial trucks and Mexico 1,017.

American motor cycles also continued in heavy demand a total of 35,041 valued at $9,350,022 being exported during the fiscal year.

The demand for American machines brought with it a corresponding demand for equipment. The value of automobile tires exported during the fiscal year 1920 was $39,919,777 as compared with $22,630,200 the year before. The total of automobile engines shipped was 39,421, valued at $6,070,440, compared with 28,445 valued at $4,434,244 the year before.

WHOLE WORLD LOOKS TO U. S. TO SUPPLY ITS MOTOR VEHICLES

Nearly Quarter Billion Dollars Worth of Cars and Parts Shipped During Past Year

WASHINGTON.—The whole world seems to be demanding motor vehicles and is looking to the United States for its supply. Records of the Department of Commerce for the fiscal year 1920, just ended, show that automobiles and parts of automobiles valued at $232,233,485 were shipped from this country. This was nearly nine times the total value of such exports before the war.

The number of commercial cars exported during the 12 months ended June 30 was 24,356, valued at $41,577,684 as compared with 12,921 valued at $32,233,485 in 1919. Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrup," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without your or your physician's knowledge of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

"Must be some car," ventured the Lizzie Driver. "Can't feel it, can't smell it, can't hear it, can't see it! How do you know it is there?"—Cincinnati Inquirer.

Our great display will answer that query.

Frills are absent—simplicity is the keynote—but there's a smartness in the grace of line and drape, the turn of a lapel, the set of a shoulder. Two and three-button single breasted coats are favored, though double breasted models will be very popular. Coat openings lower, coats less snug, a trifle longer, waist lines lower, vents shorter. It takes real tailoring art to design and produce such clothes—but we have 'em—we're glad to show them.

LABOR SATISFIED WITH DECISION IN ITALIAN DISPUTE

Name Commission to Plan
Workers' Participation in

EMPLOYERS INDIGNANT OVER INTERVENTION OF PREMIER

Threat of Worse Measures
Forces Owners' Submission

MILAN, Sept. 16.—Leaders of the Confederation of Labor and workers generally seem to believe they have won a great victory in the decision of Premier Giolitti to appoint a commission to submit concrete proposals, respecting participation by workmen in the technical, financial and disciplinary management of factories, which will embody many demands made by metal workers since they have occupied industrial plants.

Employers and their supporters voice indignation over the premier's intervention at the present phase of the situation, after maintaining neutrality when workers were occupied. They say workers would not have been able to take over factories except "through the complicity of authorities with criminals," and they accuse the government of being "the humble servant of the bolshevik."

Nevertheless, employers agree they must necessarily bow to the storm. It is declared Signor Giolitti threatened the employers with worse measures if they did not accept the workmen's proposal, and assertion is made that his firmness "approached brutality" when he showed his determination that the employers should sacrifice their rights without condition in the interests of industrial peace.

GOMPERS SENDS CONGRATULATIONS ON ESCH DEFEAT

Veteran Labor Leader Says it is Signal Victory for the Workers

MORRISON COMMENDS KNUTSON
IN LONG PERSONAL LETTER

Secretary of A. F. of L. Says
Democracy Still Lives

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has sent a telegram to R. G. Knutson, organizer for the La Crosse Trades and Labor council, congratulating him and the organized workers here upon the defeat of Congressman John J. Esch.

The telegram which is dated at Washington, D. C., follows:
"R. G. Knutson,

"La Crosse, Wis.
"Your telegram received. Congratulations on your magnificent victory. Workers of your district have again demonstrated their fealty to the principles of unity and solidarity.

(Signed) "SAMUEL GOMPERS."

The letter from Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor National Nonpartisan Political Campaign committee, follows:

September 9th, 1920.
Mr. R. G. Knutson, Chairman, Non-Partisan Political Campaign Committee, American Federation of Labor, 614 South Third street, La Crosse, Wisconsin.

Dear Sir and Brother:
Through you this committee extends its heartiest congratulations to the members of your non-partisan political campaign committee, and to the workers generally of the Seventh Congressional District of Wisconsin for their magnificent victory over the reactionary defeat of John Jacob Esch by the people of his own district in the primaries of September 8th is conclusive proof that the cause of justice and the principles of democracy cannot be crushed by the forces of reaction and industrial oppression.

The people of your district in demonstrating their love of liberty and in standing upon the free exercise of their natural rights by administering a stinging rebuke to the author of the Esch bill have given notice to the forces of reaction everywhere that they cannot be blinded by sophistry or misled by appeals to partisan regularity. The defeat of John Jacob Esch as a representative of the people in Congress should serve to teach all legislators that the court of final judgment is the people and the measure of supreme importance is respect for their rights.

In the three great contests thus far waged in this campaign between the interests of the people and the interests of reaction, reaction has been overwhelmingly defeated. These contests were the candidacy of Joseph Weldon Bailey as a reactionary candidate for Governor of Texas; that of Ralph W. Cole, the reactionary Republican candidate for Governor of Ohio; and that of John Jacob Esch of your district. With these may also be placed the overwhelming vote cast in Iowa against Senator Albert B. Cummins by members of his own party and Senator W. Underwood of Alabama who was nominated early in this campaign by the smallest party in the state which has often honored him by public office and in an election which was marked by many irregularities.

We are confident that the victory achieved by the workers and all other liberty loving citizens of your district will inspire the people to put forth all their energies to defeat the forces of reaction everywhere that the cause of justice and the principles of democracy shall triumph.

Commending you and the members of your committee and the workers generally for their devotion to our principles of unity and solidarity and trusting you shall continue the great work so well done I am,

Truly yours,
Frank A. Morrison, Sec. A. F. of L. National Non-Partisan Political Campaign Committee.

FISKE O'HARA HERE

The offering at the La Crosse theater tonight and Saturday matinee and night will be America's popular actor-singer Fiske O'Hara, in his enormously successful play, "Springtime in May," a romantic comedy of Irish life, in three acts and written by Anna Nichols Duffy. Of the many plays produced in recent years few have attracted such wide spread comment as "Springtime in May." Its freshness, and real and genuine worth commend it to every admirer of all that is good in play-building. The succession of crowded houses that is everywhere greeting Mr. O'Hara and his company, and the manner in which press and public are receiving "Springtime in May," emphasizes unmistakably that it is a good and wholesome play. It is full of overflowing with bright lines and sparkling wit, and has a fascinating love story that is honest and sincere. Mr. O'Hara's admirers will be glad to know that he will appear in a role for which his abundant talents fit him. His rare tenor-voice continues to be a feature of his performance.

and will be heard in a number of new songs, melodies that will haunt you.

DEMAND PASSPORT TO ENTER CHURCH OF ST. SOPHIA

Moslem Authorities Take Precautions Against their Enemies, the Greeks

THREATEN TO DYNAMITE MOSQUE RATHER THAN HAVE IT ENTERED

Nine Buildings in Preparation for Advance

CONSTANTINOPLE. — Passports are now demanded of visitors seeking to enter the church of Saint Sophia, and any Christian who cannot establish the fact that he is neither a Greek nor an Armenian, is not admitted.

Since the Greek advance eastward into Anatolia and the onset of Greeks that they will recover Saint Sophia within a year, Moslem authorities have doubled the guard about the great mosque and take special precautions to prevent Greeks and Armenians from entering.

There are many rumors in Constantinople, probably all of them groundless, that Greek troops will take the church by force, regardless of peace conference rulings, eliminate the Moslem altars in its interior and recover the Christian character imparted in the historic building by the Emperor Justinian when the present building was erected under his direction in the sixth century.

Turks have declared they will dynamite the mosque before they will permit it to be desecrated by the Greeks and since it is added to life in Constantinople by recurrent rumors that the Turkish nationalists have placed Saint Sophia and many other important buildings preparatory to razing them before a Greek advance into the Turkish capital. Such an advance is not regarded as improbable. The ability of the Constantinople government to enforce the terms of any agreement is questionable as long as Mustafa Kemal controls practically all of the remaining fragments of the Turkish army and refuses to take orders from the Sultan. Greece has the only troops which could undertake further punitive measures and might reasonably be expected to demand Constantinople as the reward for additional military operations.

In spite of the host of Russians in Constantinople that the Turkish capital and Saint Sophia will eventually fall into their hands as a result of the disputes among the entente powers, the Turks show no disposition to bar Russians from their most historic mosque. Every afternoon hundreds of Russians frequent the great shrine, peering in their fantastic, long-sleeved black coats embellished with rows of ivory tipped cartridge cases; Caucasian princesses, gay in brightly-colored Parisian gowns; light-bellied Tartars, with their quaint curved swords; peasant women in their cheerful hand-embroidered head-shawls and aprons; and Donkeymen's wounded soldiers all mingle freely with the Moslem worshippers. The Moslems treat Russians with the same indifference Dibbins was dining with some people who were proud of the recent elevation of a member of the family to the house of lords.

"No," said Dibbins, "but I've two maiden aunts in the kingdom of heaven."

French Guiana

French Guiana is the penal settlement of France. Its surface rises gradually from the unhealthy coast to the mountain border on the south.

Only a small part of the country is known. Fevers, particularly yellow fever, decimate the region and have proved so fatal to French convicts that white prisoners have long been sent elsewhere. The Isle du Diable, off the coast, became famous through the imprisonment of Alfred Dreyfus.

MODIFICATION OF DIVORCE LAWS IN ITALY IS OPPOSED

Would Make Separation for Two Years Ample Grounds for a Decree

ROME.—A law to permit divorce in Italy proposed by the socialist deputy, Marangoni, has roused both protest and approval in the clerical and socialist camps. The bill has now been examined by a parliamentary commission which has amended it.

Under the proposed law divorce would be permitted in consequence of separation for three years in the case of those who have children, two years in the case of those who have none.

Dissolution of marriage could also be asked by a husband who, having been absent on military service, or for the execution of civil or philanthropic duties on the occasion of some national calamity, could prove that during his absence his wife committed adultery. Reasons for separation of married persons legalized by the proposed law include: Mental infirmity, declared to be incurable rendering married life dangerous or intolerable; desertion on the part of husband or wife; infliction of a penal sentence carrying the interdiction of civil rights; and habitual crime or immorality injurious to the honor of the family.

The proposed law also regulates the legitimation of children born out of matrimony; settles the question of alimony, the restitution of the dot and the arrangements regarding property held in common by man and wife; provides for the education and maintenance of children and for the institution called a "family council" to which Italians fairly now often have recourse in matrimonial troubles.

However, the idea of the institution of divorce is so strange to many Italians, and is so strongly opposed by the Roman Catholic church, that many are of the opinion that it has but a slight chance of becoming law, although it is supported with some fervor by the socialists.

BRINGING UP FATHER

ARGENTINE CATTLE OWNERS ROUNDING UP THE RUSTLERS

Unlawful Brand Changing Becoming as Dangerous as on American Prairies

BUENOS AIRES—Vigorous raids on the haunts of cattle rustlers by round-up parties representing ranch owners and the authorities are making clandestine brand changing as unpopular on the pampas as it became on the plains of the North American West with the coming of the law.

In a round-up just completed by officers and 35 gauchos, as the hard-riding and taciturn brothers of the Texas cowmen are called, 3,000 head of cattle have been recovered with brands that showed signs of "funny work."

This was in the province of Buenos Aires, the most populous of the Argentine provinces. From the less settled provinces also there come from time to time reports of rustling and summary punishments that lead one to think of the old Wyoming and Idaho days. The rolling pampas of Argentina, scarcely ever broken by the sight of a tree, have had much the same history as the North American western plains.

In past years, especially in the more distant provinces, the cattle rustler at times flourished. One picturesque outcome of this in the past was the effort of the Welsh colonies among the foothills of the Andes of Patagonia to set up an independent authority because rustling was not put down by the government.

"I'M HARD," SAYS SAM. THEN PROVES IT

CHICAGO.—Sam Noricki boasted he was "hard"—and then decided to show 'em. He was taken from a dance hall to the New City station. While being searched Sam jumped through a plate glass window. One of the officers fired four shots "Two hit him, I'm sure," he said. Four hours later Sam was caught—but there wasn't a sign of a bullet or glass scratch!

But He Gets No Praise

Lectured for lying abed late, the farmer's boy promised that in future he would "be up with the lark." The next morning the old farmer came in from his milking and found his son sitting on the sofa and singing as blithely as though there was no such thing as work.

"Why, you youngascal," said the exasperated sire, "this is worse than sleeping. What do you mean by loafing on that sofa, and singing at the top of your voice?"

The lad grinned.

"Why, dad, you told me to be like the lark, and that's all he does when he gets up early."—Columbus (O.) Dispatch.

GAMBLING WAVE IN PORTUGAL CHECKED BY THE GOVERNMENT

New Cabinet Acts Promptly to Stop Mania Which Had Grown to Great Proportions

LISBON, Portugal.—Gambling which flourished here to an extraordinary degree after the armistice has suffered a severe check at the hands of the new government headed by Premier Baptista. Up to two months ago, the gambling houses remained undisturbed but since Baptista's government took office the law has been vigorously enforced and today there are few visible signs of the prosperity the gamblers have enjoyed for a year.

The gambling mania began to manifest itself as soon as the war ended. Magnificent clubs on which big fortunes must have been spent suddenly sprang up like mushrooms: gilded, glittering clubs, splendidly furnished, such as Lisbon never dreamed of possessing. Palaces belonging to the old aristocracy were rented at incredible prices and transformed into "The Majestic," "The Palace Club," "Maxim's," "Palais Royal" and dozens of others on the same scale, with restaurants, ball rooms and gambling rooms; everything being perfectly planned and carried out on the most modern and expensive lines. Hundreds of smaller imitations followed, until it may with truth be said, that not a street in Lisbon was without two or three gambling houses.

A great change came over the humdrum social life of Lisbon, where nothing in the way of amusement ever happens beyond theaters and moving picture shows. The club-restaurant's excellent cuisine attracted fashionable crowds, constant relays of American and English tourists spent money lavishly and smartly dressed women coming nobody knows from where were a doubtful source of attraction in the streets by day and at the clubs by night.

This condition existed for well over a year. Then well known firms were robbed by trusted employees.

An officer, who wore the cross of war, shot himself after losing large sums of money, which were not his. Young men belonging to the best families fell into disgrace.

A campaign was then begun by part of the Portuguese press, headed by the Seculo and Situa Cao. Columns of letters from parents and well known Lisbonites were printed daily, disclosing demoralizing facts and exhorting the government to close the clubs.

The governments, however, rapidly succeeding each other, had other things to attend to. And the gambling continued.

When the Baptista government came into office strenuous measures were taken. The magnificent clubs, the glittering restaurants, the smart foreign women all disappeared as suddenly as they had burst upon the scene a year ago.

For a week carts and camions conveying roulette tables and other gambling paraphernalia to the police stations formed the chief attraction of the Lisbon streets. Frequent attempts have since been made to reopen resorts. Recently the Palais Royal club was re-established, ostensibly as a restaurant. Three days after it was closed by the police, after a raid.

FIFTY MEN RESPOND TO GRIDIRON CALL AT STATE NORMAL

Operations on Field Temporarily Held up Awaiting New Line of Equipment

SEVERAL HIGH SCHOOL VETS FOUND "AMONG THOSE PRESENT"

"Rus" Rippe Expected to Enroll Within a Few Days

Football is again under way at the Normal school. About fifty men responded to Coach Keeler's call Wednesday afternoon when a short meeting was held in the auditorium for the purpose of securing the sizes of the uniforms for each man. The system of play used by Coach Keeler was explained, and the signals diagrammed for the benefit of the new men entering the school.

Judging from the looks of the new material, the coming season will be as satisfactory as the last.

Things are temporarily held up awaiting the arrival of the new equipment but no time is being lost. Last night a two hour session was spent in going over the rules, and rehearsing the plays used by the coach.

Thus far there has been no chance to see the new men in action, but they are a husky lot and should show well on the field. Many of them, though they have not attended Normal before, are not unknown to La Crosse football fans. Dahlgren was a high school star several seasons ago; then played at high school, and last year won his numerals on the La Crosse football team. Reischbach, Buehler and Gausch of last year's high school squad have reported for practice. Many of them are among the best athletes in the state.

There are a few first string men left over from last year's state championship team. They are Schroeder, Buehler, Venger, Kevin, Jones and Miller. R. Rippe is in town and is expected to enroll within a few days. With these men as a nucleus "Tubby" hopes to build out an aggregation that will sustain the reputation of former seasons.

"SHOOTING CLAY BIRDS IS MUCH MORE EXCITING THAN MOVIES," SAYS NEW WOMAN CHAMPION

BY DEAN SNYDER

A woman's eye is just as keen, her nerves just as steady, and her judgment equally as good as a man's in trapshooting. The only reason there are so few crack shots among women is the general timidity which they have in handling firearms.

This is the opinion of Mrs. Judd H. Bruff, of Pittsburgh, Pa., the new woman's national trapshooting champion.

"Trapshooting has the movies beaten a country block," she says, "and it is much more exciting."

"When I first began to shoot, three years ago, the recoil of the gun made my arm and shoulder black and blue. The noise of the shotgun made me almost deaf. I was afraid of the gun. That was what was the matter with my beginning."

Overcomes Fear

"My husband was a good shot and I determined to learn to shoot clay pigeons so as to keep him company at the tournaments. I soon learned how to hold the gun properly so it wouldn't hurt my shoulder. I put cotton in my ears and went to it."

"Any woman can learn to be a good shot if she will forget she is handling a gun. If she uses it with as much precision as she does a bread knife, or a broom, it won't hurt her."

"The eye of a woman is as keen as that of a man and her nerves just as steady. I sometimes think her judgment is better."

"I advise any woman to learn to shoot. A skinny person can handle a shotgun just as well as a big woman. I'm pretty big but that makes no difference. A child can shoot a shotgun."

Picture shows Mrs. Judd H. Bruff, new woman's national trapshooting champion, and the way she holds her gun.

COLUMBIA SQUAD IN INITIAL PRACTICE

Fifty Candidates Participate in First Workout on Tuesday Evening

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The first varsity football practice at Columbia brought out about fifty candidates eager to demonstrate their ability in the rough sport. Tuesday evening the initial practice was held. Coach Davenport putting his squad through a light workout which lasted about an hour, and it was strenuous enough to bury them all to the showers. Although light training will be held for a time, judging from the way Purple and Gold athletes were rumbling around Wednesday evening, football fans will have an opportunity of seeing some scrambling in the near future.

At supper Wednesday evening, Coach Davenport was introduced to the Columbia student body and responded to the athletic director's request for a speech. In a few well-chosen remarks the new coach expressed his happiness over being among the Columbia men and assured the students that with the right kind of college spirit and support the team on the field would do their part and that he would do all in his power to make the 1920 grid machine the best in the history of the college.

Clean sportmanship and fast, hard playing were football qualities insisted upon by Columbia's coach and although the prime object of a team is to win games, the way to win them is to outplay the other team. At the close of his speech the Columbian greeted their new coach with the hearty college yell and were greatly pleased with the sincerity of his words.

Among those who were seen for the first time last night on the Columbia gridiron were McAreever, star end of last year's aggregation; Rority and McAlroon of New Hampton, and Galvin, captain of Oulwein high school team last season.

BIG JERSEY SALE IS REAL SUCCESS FROM EVERY ANGLE

Fifty-three Head of Cattle are Sold at Good Prices in Recent Event

BY G. W. VERGERONT
The tri-county promotion sale of registered Jersey cattle was a success; fifty-three head of imported and home bred Jerseys were brought into the three counties of Buffalo, Vernon and La Crosse at an average of $244.43 for the fifty-three head, calves included. La Crosse county secured thirty head of this splendid offering while Vernon and Buffalo counties took 11 and 9 respectively.

Col. E. L. Heberlein of Fenimore started the bidding on Morocco's Grey Princess, a fine big R. of M. cow heavily in calf to a son of Oxford Majesty; a bid of $350 brought her to Adolph Johnson of Midway, who also secured two other good ones.

The top cow of the sale was a beautiful orange fawn cow by Majestic Fern, which had been one of the tops at the H. W. Ayres sale in July. Melvin Stafsteden of Westby bid last here and secured this splendid R. of M. three-year-old at $700.

Two imported in dam bulls by Dairylite's Majesty which were purchased from William Ross Proctor made splendid additions to our herds. Selmer Neprud of Viroqua, secured one out of Sybil's Oxfordia by Sybil's Gamboge for $250 and Matt Knudson of West Salem took the other, out of an imported daughter of Golden Fern's Noble, with a bid of $310.

Two of the out-standing heifers of the sale were secured by Walter L. Hauser of Mondovi when placed bid of $325 on a granddaughter of Oxfordia. Yagill Do and one of $320 on Combination's Jolly Astilla.

Mrs. L. E. Easton of La Crosse secured a prize in a two year old daughter of Viola's Golden Prince for $250. Three other splendid animals went to the same farm.

Ernest Skogen of Holmen purchased what many considered the most outstanding cow in the sale in a bur-nished fawn daughter of Imp. King of Hamble which had just freshened. A bid of $605 took her and one of $380 brought her three-quarter-sister (another three year old from the Moss Herd of Pellety, Ohio) to the Skogen farm.

Permanent officers of the Tri-County Association were elected after the sale. John Dillon, Mondovi, President; Matt Knudson, West Salem, Vice-President; Melvin Stafsteden, Westby, Treasurer; G. W. Vergeront, Onalaska, Secretary.

CREDIT EXTENSION UNWARRANTED SAYS SECRETARY HOUSTON

Scores Tendency to Withhold Goods from Market Awaiting Higher Prices

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Extension of credit by the government does not seem warranted by present conditions, Secretary Houston stated today, attributing much of the popular clamor for more credit to persons desiring to hold their goods for higher prices.

The government could hardly aid in withholding commodities from the markets by extension of credit, the secretary declared, without being a party to a conspiracy in restraint of trade and making more high price levels.

Credit expansion recently has been ample, the secretary said, to provide the movement of crops and the general tendency has been more towards expansion than restriction. The situation, he added, is clearing gradually.

The Screen

AT THE THEATERS TODAY
La Crosse—Fiske O'Hara in "Springtime in Mayo."
Majestic—Katherine MacDonald in "The Notorious Miss Lisle."
Bijou—Earle Williams in "The Fortune Hunter."
Casino—William Russell in "A Live Wire Hick."
Strand—Bert Lytell in "Alias Jimmy Valentine."
Rialto—Monroe Salisbury in "The Light of Victory."

LA CROSSE
America's popular singer actor, Fiske O'Hara comes tonight with his latest success, "Springtime in Mayo," an Irish comedy of romance and song. It is said that a more ideal play could not be found in a season's search. It suggests the better side of the stage and when you go home tonight after having witnessed the performance you will realize that you have been patronizing refinement marked sterling all over it. You will have escaped the uproar and horse-play of the footlights and wandered into a region of naturalness. In "Springtime in Mayo," Mr. O'Hara is said to have scored the biggest hit of his distinguished career. His art, his way of thinking become real under the circumstances. His delightful tenor voice is one of his great assets and you will hear a number of new songs.

MAJESTIC
A delightful element of mystery that holds the interest of the audience throughout is "The Notorious Miss Lisle" starring Katherine MacDonald that opened at the Majestic yesterday. In a most mysterious manner the name Gaeor Lisle, the beautiful daughter of an English army officer is involved in a terrible scandal. She flees to Britain, there meeting Garsten, who unaware of the notoriety that has befallen her, marries her. Not until she has encountered many thrilling adventures is her name free from scandal and the couple are happy and contented. Larry Semon in his latest mirth provoker, "The Head Waiter," keeps the house in continual laughter. The Beyerstedts are offering some unusual selections this week that make a picture worth. Their conception of the music to be used for the pictures this week is wonderful, and to listen to the music alone is well worth the time spent.

BIJOU
The celebrated stage play, "The Fortune Hunter," has been made into a picture starring Earle Williams, and opens at the Bijou today. As a stage success it was a riot, and if the picture is half as good as the original stage production we can all feel well pleased. Earle Williams, the suave and polished Nat Dunham, should be very good, as it is a part that suits the bean brimmed of the screen to the queen's taste. A Lyons and Moran comedy, "Too Many Bur-glars" will help the meriment along.

CASINO
William Russell in "The Live Wire Hick," opens at the Casino today. Mr. Russell takes the role of a bashful country boy, on the Charles Ray type, who comes to the city in search of a job. He stumbles onto a gang of crooks trying to rob a house. His experiences with these crooks furnishes plenty of thrills for the average movie fan. The fight in the elevator shaft is very realistic. "Hidden Dangers," episode 11 will furnish the balance of the thrills.

STRAND
Bert Lytell in "Alias Jimmy Valentine," will be the attraction at the Strand today. This is Mr. Lytell's best picture and he is exceptionally well cast as the crook Jimmy Valentine. These are the sort of pictures that are just suited for Mr. Lytell, and he just lives the part. "Won By a Nose," furnishes the laughter on the bill.

RIALTO
Monroe Salisbury in "The Light of Victory," a story of an American army officer who deserted his country and later died to save his flag, is the attraction at the Rialto today. Mr. Salisbury plays the part very convincingly and as the drunken head-comber he does the best work of his career. "Bombs and Brides" a comedy completes the bill.

"What is your opinion of a man who constantly deceives his wife?" "That he is a myth," replied J. Palmer Gloom.—Judge.

COX HAS PRAISE FOR CALIFORNIA SENATOR IN HOME TOWN TALK

Democratic Candidate Flays Big Business and Men Supporting Harding

SAYS G. O. P. CAN'T EXPECT SUPPORT OF PROGRESSIVES

Party of Barnes Not the Party of Roosevelt

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 17.—In address here today opening his California campaign, Governor Cox of Ohio, democratic presidential candidate, praised Senator Hiram Johnson, republican, who resides here, as an exponent of progressivism and again flayed "Big Business" and Republican leaders supporting Senator Harding.

Although they differ fundamentally on the league of nations, Governor Cox said he admired Senator Johnson for frankness and lack of ambiguity or hypocrisy.

"As an opinion, I give to you assurance that the observation made by a distinguished citizen of our state to the effect that Hiram Johnson was a blackguard and unfit to associate with decent men is not the view of our people."

"If the reactionary senatorial oligarchy gains control of the government in this campaign, it will so manipulate the power of patronage that the progressive republicans will either be compelled to join another party or to form one of their own."

"Eight years ago Colonel Roosevelt charged that the nomination was made by reactionary forces in defiance of the rank and file as expressed at the primaries. In 1920, precisely the same thing was done and Senator Johnson was humiliated the same as Colonel Roosevelt. To his neighbors, when he returned home from Chicago convention this year, he expressed no bitterness and said he would rather come back home defeated than to have been nominated by representatives of Big Business."

His further observation was a few men have set at naught for the time being the American primary system. It is true, and it would be futile to deny it, that there are many Crozes, Smoots, and representatives of Morgan and company who arrogate to themselves the right of selection of candidates, notwithstanding what may have been decreed by the people themselves."

"I am unable to see by what process of reasoning the political party which has given to Boss Barnes of New York a distinct status of leadership in this campaign can expect the progressive friends of Theodore Roosevelt and Hiram Johnson to give it support."

"In this great western country, I find many evidences of resentment. I am convinced that the currents of independent and progressive thought will be running so high by November that unholy enterprises will have been completely engulfed."

Governor Cox will speak in San Francisco tonight. Saturday also will be spent by Governor Cox in San Francisco.

PTOMAIN POISONING

It is not uncommon to read in the newspapers of the death or serious illness of some person as the result of what is called "ptomaine poisoning." By this the lay understanding is that chemical poisons generated in food as the result of decomposition. It is true that such poisons occur. By far the greatest number of the cases prove, on investigation, to have been instances of bacterial food poisoning, cases in which the illness was due to infection with various disease germs which contaminated the food.

The most common of the germs responsible for food poisoning are related to the germs of typhoid fever, or paratyphoid fever. Another common variety is related to the germ which causes hog cholera. This form of food poisoning is probably much more common than is ordinarily supposed, and many cases of sudden diarrhea and sick headache are probably of this nature. As a rule infection with these germs may easily be avoided by thoroughly cooking the food.

There is another form of "ptomaine poisoning" which has been rather frequently observed lately. This is called botulism, and has already been described in a previous article.

Cleanliness when handling and preparing food, keeping left-over dishes in the icebox and thoroughly cooking all foods constitute a reliable safeguard against most of the common varieties of food poisoning.

Hernia

Q. I have a hernia which troubles me more in summer than in winter, though of small size. I have used a spring truss for the last 20 years, but it gives me little relief. Will you kindly tell me if there is a better appliance or a cure for hernia?

A. It appears likely that the truss you are wearing is not properly fitted. As a rule, a properly adjusted spring truss will satisfactorily control simple hernia. It is suggested, however, that you consult a good surgeon and see whether, perhaps, an operation might not be advisable. The radical cure of an inguinal hernia is now so well understood by surgeons, that the operation is attended with success in a very high proportion of cases.

Corns

Q. Please tell me a good remedy for corns.

A. The best remedy consists in the wearing of properly-fitting shoes. The thickened skin can be removed by careful paring with a sharp knife, and by various local applications. The latter are obtainable at all drug stores in the form of plasters, ointments and liquids, practically all of them consisting of salicylic acid in some form.

CLEVELAND HAS EDGE ON WASHINGTON TEAM

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 17.—Cleveland entered the second game of the series with Washington today, leading the American league by three points. Manager Griffith of Washington expected to use Courtney, a left-hander in the box with the hope of stopping the Indians. Stanley Coveleskie, Cleveland's ace, was sent to the firing line by Manager Speaker.

Frederick gave his eyes and nose a swipe with his hand, and looking up at Billy, sobbed despairingly:

50% FOR SALE

50% FOR SALE - A magnificent Hotel Property containing 12 large outside rooms, steam heat, oak finish, full basement under entire building, located close to the Burlington R. R. shops and yards, right in the heart of the coming industrial section of La Crosse. In full view of four rail road lines, with several new factories in operation or under construction in the vicinity. Property has lately been extensively improved and could not be duplicated today for $50,000, but will be sold for less than 50 percent of present cost of construction. The superintendent of one large concern that are now erecting a large addition to their plant, assures me that he will keep the hotel as long as he can, and alone as soon as the hotel is reoccupied. May consider smaller property as part payment.

La Crescent Property FOR SALE

La Crescent Property FOR SALE - We offer several partly modern dwelling houses, centrally located, with ample water supply, plenty of shrubbery, and with one to two acres of ground with each place, at prices below present building costs.

We offer choice residence sites within the Village, with frontage on its main thoroughfares, at reasonable prices and terms to suit.

We also offer some acreage suited for gardening, or poultry raising.

La Crescent is only 15 minutes auto drive into the heart of La Crosse, giving you the environs of the country with the advantages of the city. The new federal aid road running 30 miles west to the county seat is now under construction; the North Ridge road opening up a new scenic highway to Twin Cities is now under way; the Babcock amendment will insure the macadamizing of the causeway, while the extension of the electric light and power line from La Crosse will be finished within another month.

Our Fourteenth ANNIVERSARY

AND FAIR WEEK SALE

Beginning Monday, Sept. 20th, Ending Saturday, Sept. 25th

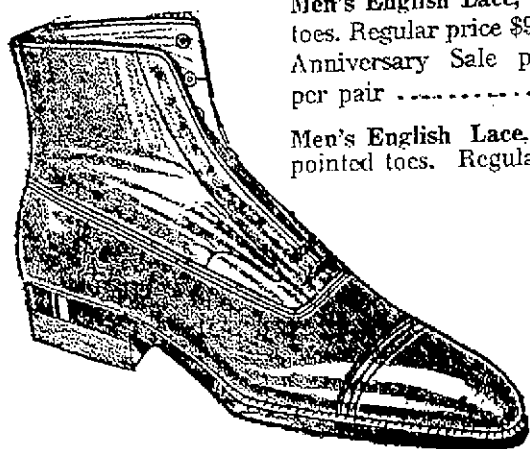

A NOTHER YEAR! Another stone in the structure of honest service this store has reared! And today this same forward looking policy, that has built up our tremendous business, still holds this store steadfastly to the task of value giving—of keeping up the quality—and keeping the prices down. This is Our Fourteenth Birthday and we are celebrating with a week of EXTRAORDINARY SALES that will stamp this as one of the most remarkable events La Crosse has ever known. Profits have been disregarded, scarcity of goods and present high costs forgotten in our determination to give the people of La Crosse and vicinity
